OTHER NATIONS INVOLVED WITH SPAIN

BRITAIN DECLARES MERCHANT SHIPS BE GIVEN PROTECTION

RUMORS THAT GERMANY WILL BREAK WITH RUSSIA IN ORDER HAVE FREE HAND

By The Associated Press.
Britain promised today her warships would protect her merchant vessels on the high seas from "either side" in the Spanish war, and moved simultaneously to make illegal the carrying of Spanish arms by British merchantmen from whatever port.

While new bombs and shells from fascist besiegers fell in Madrid, Spanish socialist sources hinted at grave international repercussions from the alleged torpedoing "by foreign submarines" of a government cruiser.

"There are nations on Spain's side which can lend it assistance in a thousand ways," warned the newspaper El Socialista, in Madrid.

Unconfirmed reports circulated in London diplomatic circles today that Germany might be considering breaking off relations with Moscow so the Nazis could assume a free hand in Spain.

The reports followed hard on the heels of a 45-minute conference between Joachim Von Ribbentrop, German ambassador to Great Britain, and Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin on an undisclosed subject.

Britain to Protect Shipping.
Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told the British house of commons that Great Britain will protect its shipping from either the Spanish government or the insurgents.

But teeth into the already strict British arms export regulations, Eden announced the government would introduce a bill to make carrying of arms to Spain by British ships illegal.

Adding indirectly to the Russo-German tension over intervention in the Spanish civil war was the sentencing to death of a German engineer, a Russian tribune for anti-communist sabotage.

Authoritative Berlin newspapers warned that Germany stands behind the Russian position.

The court also held the first six of the nine encounters must take place Tuesday.

It ordered the delay after a day-long scurry had failed to bring agreement among the twenty seconds involved. Several of parliament protested the pressure of business would interfere with their observing detailed etiquette of the rigid honor code before tomorrow.

MARITIME STRIKE TIGHTENING GRIP ON AMERICAN PORTS

WALKOUT CALLED FOR ALL UNITED STATES SHIPPING POINTS AT NOON

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—(P)—The maritime strike tightened around the United States today, with unions representing ships' officers calling a walkout for noon at all American ports.

Officials here of two American Federation of Labor Unions, the Masters, Mates and Pilots Association and the Marine Engineers Beneficial Association, said it was the first time to their knowledge that a nation-wide maritime strike has been called.

Assistant Secretary of Labor Edward P. McGrady, meanwhile pressed efforts here to settle the far-flung waterfront disputes and their attendant conflicts.

Col. O. F. Ohlson, manager of the government-owned Alaska Railroad, discussed with McGrady plans for proposed chartering of ships to send food north. Pleas of Gov. James B. Poydexter of Hawaii for aid were also being considered by federal agencies.

The nation-wide strike call, issued at New York Saturday by William S. Brown, national president of the engine room officers, and James J. Delaney, national president of the deck officers, officially extended the scope of the Pacific Coast general maritime strike.

Two New Groups Called Out.
NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—(P)—While steamship owners and the International Seamen's Union declared the maritime strike on the East Coast had been broken, two new groups were called to join the walkout today.

Leaders of the Masters, Mates and Pilots Association and of the Marine Engineers Beneficial Association issued calls for the walkout.

POSSIBILITY OF JUNIOR COLLEGE HERE DISCUSSED

FACTS AND FIGURES FROM OTHER CITIES ARE PRESENTED COMMITTEE

Legal requirements, problems and benefits of the establishment and operation of a junior college were outlined to members of a special citizens committee Saturday afternoon by a representative of the state department of education and the executive head of two Central Texas institutions.

Beauford H. Jester, chairman of the special group, called the meeting to order in the library of the Corsicana senior high school, and presented W. A. Nelson, college examiner for the state board of education. Mr. Nelson stated that there were only two legal requirements provided in the special junior college statute and those were that the college district have an assessed valuation of 12 million dollars, according to the commissioner's records, and that the high school have a daily attendance of 400 or more.

Separate Institution.
The state representative recommended, however, that the junior college be operated strictly as a college and not as a combination of high school and college, although many are being operated in this manner. Where finances would permit he urged that a separate building be provided for the college work, insisting that it resulted in greater efficiency and satisfaction. He also urged that the institution be properly financed and stated that it was the history of all institutions that had had hard sledding for several years if they attempted to operate on tuition alone.

A round-table discussion followed.

Nine Condemned To Death Result Russian Trial

NOVOSIBIRSK, Western Siberia, Nov. 23.—(P)—Plots for clearing the city of the customary 48-hour interval after sentence in Russia were all that stood in the way today of death for nine men convicted of anti-communist sabotage.

The men—eight Russians and a German—were convicted yesterday of plotting against the soviet regime and killing 14 miners in a conspiracy to wreck the great Kemerovo mines. All pleaded guilty except one who confessed "partial guilt."

Stickling, the German, was the first foreigner sentenced to death in a Russian sabotage trial in seven years.

Berlin newspapers headlined the verdict across front pages. The Montagspost denoted "Moscow's murderous justice which continues to plot against its bloodiest enemies."

The incident, which caused Vice Admiral Sir Charles Little, commander of the British Far East naval forces to postpone a visit to Japan scheduled Oct. 7.

(According to British naval officials the three sailors were arrested for alleged failure to pay a taxi fare and, when they protested their innocence, were beaten in the face by Japanese police and plainclothesmen.)

The British government, Eden told the House of Commons, has demanded punishment of the offenders and payment of compensation to the victims.

SOCIAL SECURITY JOINS TAXES AS LEGISLATIVE HEADACHE FOR HALF OF STATES NEXT SESSION

(By The Associated Press.)
CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—Social security has joined taxes—the perennial headache of legislators—as a major problem for lawmakers in at least half the states.

Relief, liquor control and schools demand attention and other legislative issues range from birth control to race track betting. Most legislatures will start their work between Jan. 4 and Jan. 15. Kentucky and Virginia will not have a regular session until 1938, however.

Ohio seeks a way to equal the $65,000,000 annual income from sales, liquid fuel, cigarette and admissions taxes which expire next year.

Connecticut has a deficit of $10,000,000; New York has one of $57,000,000 which coupled with demands for greater than normal expenditures may hike the budget to more than $100,000,000. Georgia must calculate appropriations for 1938 as well as 1937 and 1938 because no appropriations were made for this year.

Texas has a large deficit in its

HUGE LANDSLIDE SMASHED THROUGH JUNEAU SECTION

FOUR REPORTED DEAD AND UNDETERMINED NUMBER ARE MISSING

JUNEAU, Alaska, Nov. 23.—(P)—A huge landslide smashed through the apartment house section of Juneau, leaving in its wake today four persons reported dead, at least seven injured and an undetermined number missing.

The slide last night demolished two apartment houses, a lodging house, a two-story concrete store and several homes.

It cut off power lines, plunging the city into darkness and disrupted telephone and U. S. signal corps communication.

Throughout the night rescue workers labored frantically in mud, rock and broken timbers to save persons whose muffled cries they heard through the debris.

Fire Chief V. W. Mulvihill said the number of trapped persons or bodies in the jumbled debris might be as high as 25.

The injured included: Alfred Bates, his side pierced by a board.

Gust Erickson, crushed and injured internally.

August Maki, a fractured ankle. Mrs. H. Lee, negro, a fractured leg.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Persson and their two children, Gail and Allen, badly bruised and shocked.

Loosened by heavy rains during the last few days, an earlier slide had, slightly damaged, it was found, a section of the town.

As the rumble of the slide was heard by persons living at the foot of the mountain, some rushed from their homes. Maki and Bates were hurt as they fled.

Erickson and Mrs. Lee were trapped in his house where rescue crews dug them out. The Persson family was caught in the three-story Nickolovich frame apartment.

Britain Demands Jap Apology For Beating Sailors

LONDON, Nov. 23.—(P)—Great Britain demanded an apology from the Japanese government for the beating and torture of three British sailors at Keelung, Formosa, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden disclosed to the house of commons today.

Japanese police, officers of the British Asiatic squadron reported, jabbed a fountain pen under the finger nail of one sailor and squirted ink into the wounds to make him sign a "confession."

(The incident, which caused Vice Admiral Sir Charles Little, commander of the British Far East naval forces to postpone a visit to Japan scheduled Oct. 7.)

(According to British naval officials the three sailors were arrested for alleged failure to pay a taxi fare and, when they protested their innocence, were beaten in the face by Japanese police and plainclothesmen.)

CORSICANA COTTON MILLS OPERATING AT CAPACITY PEAK

USING APPROXIMATELY 200 BALES WEEKLY OUTPUT HAS BEEN DOUBLED

Doubling of output and extensive additions to its large crew of workmen is the record established by the Corsicana Cotton Mills during the year, officials reported Monday morning.

At present, the plant is operating at capacity on a two-shift basis and is using approximately 200 bales of cotton each week.

Officials reported that the average run early in the year was around 50,000 pounds of lint cotton with between 200 and 250 persons employed, and they were of the opinion then that they were doing a good business. Now the amount of cotton used has been doubled for the past several weeks and the number of workmen has been enlarged to more than 350.

Demand Reported Good.
Orders are now on hand for several weeks.

INCREASE IN OIL PRODUCTION TAX EXPECTED TO RAISE MORE REVENUE THAN OTHER LEVIES

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fifth of a series of news items on the oil tax situation.)

AUSTIN, Nov. 23.—(P)—The oil tax action of the omnibus bill passed at the last legislative session probably will raise more money than the other sections combined.

The gross production levy on oil was increased from 2 cents or 2 1/2 per cent of value to 2 3/4 cents or 2 3/4 per cent of value. The percentage tax applies when oil is selling for more than $1 a barrel.

If production should remain as low during the current fiscal year as in the last an there should be no price increase, additional revenue would be around $3,220,000 annually. But oil men are hopeful the allowable will be higher and that prices of crude will rise within a few months.

Other Oil Taxes.
Texas levies a 3-1/2 cent per barrel tax for enforcement of oil production. It also is attempting to collect a tax on intangible as-

SUPREME COURT IN AN EVENLY DIVIDED VERDICT ON MONDAY

NEW YORK STATUTE WHICH TAXES EMPLOYERS HELD VALID BY COURT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—(P)—The New York unemployment insurance law, which taxes employers to pay benefits to those out of work, was held constitutional today by an evenly divided vote of the supreme court.

Announcement of the court was made in these words, after listing the title of three cases involving the act:

"The judgments in these cases are severally affirmed by an equally divided court."

Justice Stone, ill with dysentery, was not present today and did not participate in the decision. That made the vote 4 to 4.

How the justices were divided was not announced.

The New York court of appeals had upheld the insurance legislation.

Fourteen states and the District of Columbia have similar laws. The states are: Alabama, California, Idaho, Indiana, Massachusetts, Mississippi, New Hampshire, New York, Oregon, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Texas, Wisconsin and Utah.

Under the New York measure, employers of four or more persons—with certain exceptions—are required to pay a tax on payroll which is to be placed into a pool to aid the unemployed.

Whether the legislation was a "burden" or "substantial interference" with the federal social security law, the latter statute was not involved in the litigation decided today.

The New York tax for 1936 was 1 per cent, 2 per cent for 1937 and 3 per cent thereafter. The fund is now in excess of $200,000, paid by more than 76,000 establishments for 2,500,000 workers.

Benefits, not to be paid until 1938, are based by the legislation on 50 per cent of the full-time weekly wage, with a minimum of $5 a week and a maximum of $15 to qualified unemployed workers.

Christmas Island Reported Sought As U. S. Air Base

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—(P)—Air minded government officials, authoritative circles said today, are casting eyes at tropical Christmas Island in the Pacific, where the British flag has flown for nearly a half century.

Much larger than Howland, Baker and Jarvis, the nearby bits of land for the occupation of which congress appropriated $35,000 last June, Christmas is more nearly a true island, with a direct air route between the United States and New Zealand and Australia.

Almost astride the American defense line in the western Pacific, it has a big lagoon that might provide harbor for naval surface ships as well as aircraft.

While some informed quarters professed belief no move was planned for the present, a state department official said flatly "the United States does not recognize British sovereignty there."

The legislature ordered a 50 per cent increase in the tax on gas, 37 1/2 per cent on sulphur and new taxes on carbon black, marble, cinnamon and other ores.

Other Revenue Matters.
J. W. Byrne of the comptroller's department estimated additional revenue from a tax of 3 per cent of value on natural and casing-head gas would be more than $150,000 yearly and that from the sulphur tax increase about $375,000 per year. First payments of the carbon black levy are due December 25. The tax is one-

VICTORY JUBILEE OF DEMOCRATS WAS OBSERVED MONDAY

THREE GOVERNORS AND SENATOR ROBINSON HEAD LIST OF DIGNITARIES

DALLAS, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Democratic leaders gathered here today to celebrate a "Victory Jubilee."

Chill and drizzling rain failed to dampen enthusiasm.

Gov. James V. Alfred of Texas, Gov. Leslie A. Miller of Wyoming and Gov. Clyde L. Herring of Iowa, with Sen. Joe T. Robinson of Arkansas, headed the list of visiting dignitaries.

Karl Crowley, solicitor general of the post office department, headed a party from Washington, which included Congressman Sam Rayburn.

Leaders honored Senator Robinson at a luncheon on the Texas Centennial grounds. The visiting Arkansas was programmed to address a dinner at 7:00.

This evening, J. W. Evans of Houston, vice president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, will answer Robinson's talk.

Arrangers said Texas democratic organization leaders would present to Governor Alfred a bust of Vice-President John N. Garner. Alfred said the piece would be placed in the capitol at Austin.

Pyrotechnic portraits of Mr. Garner and President Roosevelt were planned to end the day's festivities. The fireworks display was to be concluded with formation of the American flag in flares and rockets.

TWO TRAFFIC DEATHS IN FORT WORTH AREA DURING WEEKEND

FORT WORTH, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Week-end traffic accidents in and near Fort Worth took two lives, bringing Tarrant county's toll for the year to 62, and resulted in injury to several others.

The dead.

Lee Anderson Tucker, 34, injured when his automobile was struck by an M-K-T passenger train at the Bewick street crossing shortly after he left the home of a friend Sunday morning.

Mrs. J. L. Watson, 24, injured late Sunday night when the car in which she was riding with her husband, overturned on the highway, about half a mile south of the M-K-T underpass. She died at 8 a. m. Sunday in a hospital.

Her husband, J. L. Watson, is unconscious at St. Joseph's hospital, suffering from a brain concussion.

Miss Hope Roberts of Chicago, hotel occupant of the Watson machine, was cut and bruised and was treated at Harris hospital.

COTTON MILLS

Several weeks ago, and mill officials reported that demand was good for various types of products with capacity operations apparently assured during the first quarter of 1937.

For the month of October, the Corsicana mill averaged 350 hours of activity per spindle in place, compared with a national average of 296, and a state average of 276, and within close range of South Carolina mills, who led the United States with an average of 365.

Mill officials reported that the majority of the orders were for so-called "heavy goods" including ducks and oxfordshirts and similar lines used in the automotive and electrical industries. Cost of operating the mill is now approximately $25,000 per week, according to officials, with about half of that amount going for the purchase of lint and other raw materials.

An unusually wide variety of staples being offered them this season as a result of peculiar weather conditions in different parts of the cotton belt.

Encouraged Over Outlook.

M. L. Woodrow, general manager of the Corsicana mill, returned recently from a trip to New York via Washington and other points of interest, and reported that members of the textile industry were unanimously encouraged by the general outlook and conditions, besides being swamped with orders at the present time.

Labor troubles over a long period of time in the New England sector were reported to have resulted in the closing of many plants, their attention of buyers and users is now being centered on southern and southwestern mills with the result that many of them, such as the Corsicana mill, enjoying unusually active seasons. Many outposts have also been closed.

Mrs. and Mrs. Woodrow were in New York City on the night of the general election, and gave interesting accounts of the great crowd that filled Times Square.

A teletype machine, connected directly to the Western Union lines, has been installed in the mill offices recently to facilitate their operations and to maintain closer contacts with their national sales representatives.

Establish New Records.

A little interpretative study of the present output of the Corsicana plants leaves the uninitiated observer partially stunned as he gets a true picture of the operations. Accustomed as most residents of this section are to seeing cotton, the mention of 200 bales of lint fails to arouse particular enthusiasm, but when it is reduced to 100,000 pounds of cotton, the imagination begins to grasp a better conception, and then when it is explained that this is the equivalent of 200,000 yards of eight-ounce duck "cotton sacking," the picture is enlarged again. At any rate, there's a lot of cotton being used in a lot of things.

With new all-time production records being established regularly.

NEIGHBORS AND NATIONS
Life would not pleasant be
If where our gardens meet
My neighbor challenged me
To halt my straying feet
And I had cannons grim
To guard my entry gate,
Still carrying on with him
Some ancient, tribal hate.

Suppose at three or four
Our children we'd advise:
Hate them who live next door,
And all their kin despise;
Distrust them night and day,
Their every act condemn;
Give not one flower away,
And share no joy with them.

Suppose half hid with vines,
At every crossing path,
We both maintained the signs
Of ancient enmity war;
What good could either gain?
What pleasure fill the day?
Yet nations strive in vain
For peace in just that way.

BUYING POWER AT THE BOTTOM.

This deluge of deferred dividends and bonus payments and wage raises, explain it as you will, is what the country needs. Public spending has been credited by economists with a large part of the business recovery so far; but there is obviously a limit to such outlay. The only kind of expenditure that a free economic system can depend on to restore normality and keep business going steadily ahead is ample private spending.

Purchasing power has to be diffused as widely as possible. By this theory, general welfare can be gained and maintained only when it begins at the grassroots and cobblestone and works up. The masses, after all, are the great spenders, just as they are the great consumers. Nearly all of their income goes into immediate living. The most rapid turn-over of wealth is in the lower brackets, when they have it. Thence it rises to make profits for business enterprise and investment.

Our country, like others with a free system of private enterprise, has tried the opposite method of pouring wealth in at the top, expecting it to work down through the whole social mass. But in such procedure not enough gets to the bottom, and the springs of wealth dry up. Something like that is what seems to have happened a few years ago.

MACHINES AND JOBS

Science and invention do increase the number of jobs. Investigations made by the National Industrial Conference Board show that in 1933 there were at least 743,266 full-time and 93,022 part-time workers engaged in occupations related to the sale, maintenance or repair of products developed by invention during the last fifty years.

The automobile industry has created more than 570,000 employment opportunities, in addition to those directly connected with the manufacture of motor vehicles.

New products have added to the number of jobs available in retail trade. In 1933 there were 453,438 full-time and 71,639 part-time workers in new types of retail establishments.

This looks like a good case for new inventions and against Technocracy—that theory based on the declining opportunity of men in a world of machinery—but it does not tell the whole story.

New inventions may increase jobs in the long run. They are pretty sure to do so in a fair and flexible social organization. But their first effect is usually to throw a lot of people out of jobs.

It is necessary for industrial society to take care of workers in such cases as "technological unemployment," and to train them, when necessary, for jobs requiring new kinds of skill.

As between the Bourbons on the right and the Communists on the left, the typical American attitude is, in the words of the old song, to "keep in the middle of the long, wide road," turning just enough leftward now and then to get around a truck.

Nobody is so certain as a politician that his place cannot be filled by anybody else, and thus elections teach humility.

THE BIG GOOD NEIGHBOR

—By Clive Weed

ALL-AMERICAN UNITY

Washington correspondents say that "extraordinary efforts" are being made to arouse public interest in the approaching Inter-American conference at Buenos Aires. The most spectacular move is the President's plan to go to Argentina himself for the opening, although it is a difficult time for him. Attention is already aroused throughout this hemisphere, and the rest of the world will be looking on.

It may be a great historic occasion, marking the beginning of close and effective co-operation between the nations of this hemisphere.

Some such purpose was behind the Pan-American movement of a generation ago. But it was not very effective, because there was too much suspicion of Uncle Sam's intentions among the Latin-American countries, and some of them were still bound by strong ties to the Old World.

That situation has been changed greatly, first by the World War and subsequent chaos in Europe, second by the rise of Japanese power across the Pacific, and third by the measures taken by our government to convince Mexico, Central and South America that the "Colossus of the North" has no designs against them but seeks only mutual welfare and co-operation.

Nobody knows what is going to happen in Europe and Asia. It seems to be time for America to form a new effective group of its own.

A KANSAS PROPHECY

What is going to happen in this country, or to this country, during President Roosevelt's second term? Here is something that nearly everyone interested in public affairs is wondering about, and many observers are guessing about. An answer given by William Allen White, Republican sage of Emporia, Kansas, doesn't profess to be any more than a guess, but is probably as good as anybody's. It is from an article written for the North American Newspaper Alliance.

The American standard of living, he thinks, will be established at a basic standard below which no man willing to work will be allowed to sink.

There will be general old age pensions and job insurance of some kind.

There will be collective bargaining for industry, safeguarded by law, with closed shop or company shop according to the choice

DIFFICULT NEUTRALITY

One of the matters to which the new Congress is expected to give early attention is the neutrality law. The present one, considered rather unsatisfactory, expires on May 1. What should take its place?

Americans want to remain at peace with the world. They are not agreed about how to do this. They hope that neutrality legislation can be devised to meet every situation and keep us out of every sort of war everywhere. When it comes to writing such legislation, difficulties of many kinds appear.

Strict neutrality may work unfairly to innocent victims of war. It may involve the government in arguments with belligerent powers, until emotions are aroused and the war fever develops in spite of laws. Opinion differs as to the wisdom of mandatory embargoes on war materials or embargoes left to the discretion of the president. Opinion differs as to what are war materials. Are they guns and ammunition only, or do they include food and raw materials and manufactured products which normally serve peaceful purposes? And what of the rights of neutrals? How may they be maintained in a war-mad world?

The problem appears more complex the longer it is studied. It may be that Americans demand, as one commentator says, "the strongest law possible to bar our way into the shambles for which Europe seems preparing," and "neutrality is our first and best line of defense." Neutrality, however, won't work unless we are as neutral and as peace-loving in our thoughts as in our laws.

Whatever law is finally passed, we need to continue our national education in the economic causes of war and the peaceful measures which make war unnecessary.

of the workers' majority in a plant. Wages and working conditions for women and children, who are unorganizable, will be protected by law.

"Out of this high standard of living, the American standard," he says, "any man will be able to rise to whatever heights his individual qualities will take him, provided only that he shall give social return for his gains. That may be the net gain of the New Deal."

Security is desirable, but the big thing is opportunity.

NUISANCE TAXES

All taxes are nuisances, but productive ones are necessary to meet the heavy expenses of depression. There is no such justification for taxes which annoy those who have to pay them, and produce little or no more than the costs of collection.

Experts at Washington, studying tax revision, report finding such levies whose discontinuance they will recommend. Among the nuisances under consideration are the federal taxes on sporting goods, cosmetics, club dues, admissions to places of entertainment, chewing gum, matches, radios, phonographs and refrigerators. Some of these have been invisible to the ultimate consumer, others only too visible.

Some political prophets have been announcing an "era of good feeling" like that of President Monroe's time, and post-election sentiment seems to suggest such a miracle, but realists will give it about two months.

1937 OLDSMOBILENOW ON DISPLAY
LOCAL SHOWROOMS*INVITATION EXTENDED GEN-ERAL PUBLIC TO INSPECT THE NEW MODELS

Models of the new 1937 Oldsmobile lines are now on display in Corsicana in the showroom of the Joe Jefferson Motor company at the corner of West Collin and North Twelfth streets, and a cordial invitation has been extended to the general public to inspect the new vehicles.

For 1937, Oldsmobile is presenting two distinct lines of cars, one a six-cylinder unit and the other an eight-cylinder unit, with easily distinguishable body styling but containing the same advanced engineering and mechanical features.

Both lines of cars are longer, roomier and more comfortable than preceding models, with greater reserve of power at lower engine speeds.

The new six body is featured by a grille of horizontal chromium bars, with hood louvers of corresponding design, and streamlined headlamps. The eight body is featured with a die-cast grille of square mesh design. The designs of the grilles are carried out in the trimmings of the models. Seats have been moved forward about six inches insuring greater riding comfort.

Among other features of the new models are improvements on the knee-action unit, new center control steering, two-way shock absorbers, dual ride stabilizers, sturdier rear axle construction, larger wheel bearings, improved valve design, and new type of spiral woven clutch facing.

The bodies are of the turret-top type with all doors and windows sealed against rain and wind. Safety glass is standard throughout all models.

Thanksgiving: Yesterday And Today

Thanksgiving, as artists portray it, has remained essentially the same since the time of the Pilgrim Fathers—a day of feasting. New England colonies have become part of a mighty nation—Indians do not play the prominent role they did in the First Thanksgiving. But these conceptions of how the day had been observed at three widely-separated periods have the same theme.

17TH CENTURY
Pilgrims and Indians, shown in a sketch from Harpers Weekly, join in grace before they sit down to a rough-hewn table on the first Thanksgiving day.

19TH CENTURY
F. A. Chapman in a Harpers Weekly sketch portrays a typical New England family of the time drawn up for the holiday repast.

20TH CENTURY
Doris Lee, modern artist, depicts the preparation for the meal in her canvas, "Thanksgiving."

Ninetieth Birthday Corsicanan's Mother Observed Nov. 13th

The following account of the 90th birthday celebration for Mr. E. D. McCarver's mother, taken from the Denison Herald of Saturday, November 14, will be of interest to the celebrant's many Corsicana friends, made when visiting her son and his family here, on many occasions.

Her birthday was Friday, November 13, and all the members of the McCarver family of this city were up for the celebration and remained over until Tuesday with her.

Besides the many attentions showered upon her by her loved ones and friends the radio station at Denison honored her with a special program of songs and birthday greetings at 9 o'clock that morning.

Mrs. Margaret Carr McCarver, a resident of Denison, fifty-five years ago, celebrated her 90th birthday Friday in the company of children and great-grandchildren at the home of her daughter, Mrs. C. L. Standerfer, 519 East Wood street. She was showered throughout the day with congratulatory telegrams, messages, and gifts, and proudly presided at the head of the ornate birthday table which was centered with a birthday cake glittering with myriads of candles, milestones in her splendid life.

Native of Alabama, Mrs. McCarver, native of Florida, Ala., is the widow of W. L. McCarver who died in Denison 17 years ago. The couple were married in Arkansas in 1869 and came to Texas in a covered wagon in 1873, arriving after a three-month journey. Settling first at Fairfield they removed to Denison in 1881. Of their seven children, two died in infancy, and a son, Sidney McCarver, passed away here in recent years. The others are Mrs. C. L. Standerfer, who was hostess at the birthday open house; Leon McCarver, local druggist, who resides at the Standerfer-McCarver home; Will McCarver of Smithville and Ed McCarver of Corsicana.

Present from out of town for the anniversary at which they were tendered a cordial welcome by the happy, alert birthday celebrant were Mr. and Mrs. Ed McCarver and daughter, Margaret Nell, of Corsicana and the following grandchildren and great-grandchildren: Mr. and Mrs. Preston Harrison and son, Tommy, Corsicana; Mrs. E. H. Hancock and sons, Hal and Bob; Mr. and Mrs. Dick Fagin, Dallas; and Miss Nannette Standerfer, who has been visiting in San Antonio, Fort Worth and Dallas. She resides at the family home here.

Joining the birthday homecoming today for an over-Sunday visit are the following other grandchildren and great-grandchildren: Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence McCarver and Farley McCarver of Corsicana, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence McCarver of Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. Will McCarver and children of Smithville were unable to be present. Among Denison relatives in the houseparty are the venerable celebrant's grandchildren, Mrs. Margaret Standerfer, widow of the late Dick Standerfer, and their son, Jack.

The home was profusely decorated with flowers sent in tribute to Mrs. McCarver who is among Denison's most beloved pioneers.

DAIRYMEN SHOULD GIVE THOUGHT TO FUTURE PROGRAM

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 20.—(Spl.)—"Now is the time for dairymen to give thought to a far-sighted program of dairy management," said E. R. Eudaly, Extension dairyman, in commenting on the annual report issued by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

The report states that rising prices for milk cows and dairy products are a favorable time to consider a program of dairy management. One reason for the favorable forecast lies in the growing demand for milk and milk products because of a better undertone in business, Eudaly pointed out. Then, too, there is a correlation between prices for beef cattle and dairy animals, and indications point to a favorable market for beef.

A third reason for the expected strong market is that the number of milk cows has been getting smaller because of the droughts of 1934 and 1936. Since 1920 through 1933, the number of milk cows has been on the increase, but the bureau estimates that there will be fewer dairy animals on the first of the year than on any January since 1932. No great increase is expected before 1939 or 1940.

Eudaly felt that the next year or two should be a favorable time to raise dairy herds, because a good market would likely be ready for them. He warned, however, that dairymen should not increase the business blindly. It is necessary to think ahead and to plan pastures and feed reserves, before increasing the size of our herds," he commented, "and these reserves can be stored more efficiently and economically in ranch lots."

"The average dairy cow in Texas is underfed," Eudaly continued. "In most cases, the dairyman can make larger return on his investment and labor by feeding his cows to their full capacity than he can by increasing the size of his herd and parceling out feed to them."

HOUSTON AND DALLAS AUTOMOBILES CRASH; SEVERAL INJURED

Several persons narrowly escaped serious injury when automobiles driven by Dallas and Houston motorists collided immediately north of the Highway 76 bridge on Chambers creek about 10 o'clock Friday night. A truck driven by a Dallas motorist, immediately behind a Houston car, struck the guard rail on the west side of the high dirt ramp approaching the bridge, plunged down the embankment but did not turn over.

The Houston car was hurt more seriously than other occupants and was taken to an Ennis hospital. Two received first aid treatment in Corsicana.

Deputy Sheriff Jack Floyd answered the call. The wreckage was not cleared from the highway for several hours.

LOUISIANA GOVERNOR ANNOUNCES VIOLENT RAIL STRIKE ENDED

COMPLETE SETTLEMENT OF L. AND A. TROUBLES BY ARBITRATION

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 20.—(P)—Governor Richard W. Leche announced today complete settlement by arbitration of the violent Louisiana and Arkansas Railway strike.

Although details of the settlement were not revealed, representatives of the four brotherhoods which walked out on Sept. 19, said the approximately 300 strikers would "soon be back at work."

The strike originally was called for more pay and better working conditions.

The governor conferred with railway officials and workers' spokesmen last week and continued the conference Wednesday, Thursday and into the early hours of this morning.

He said they had "reached an agreement settling all differences, and that concessions made by the two sides were a tribute to the patriotism and sound judgment of all parties concerned."

Six trainmen have died in weeks and one was shot from an ambush in the cab of his engine since the strike started. Numerous derailments have occurred, bridges have been burned and men women sympathizers have halted and seized freight and passenger trains and beaten the crews.

The railway has 831 miles of track in Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas, operating between New Orleans, Shreveport, La., Hope, Ark., and Dallas, Tex.

Strikers Notified of Settlement. GREENVILLE, Nov. 20.—(P)—Striking employees of the Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas Railroad were notified today a settlement had been reached through the aid of Gov. Richard Leche of Louisiana, in which each side made concessions on disputed points.

More than 100 men in the railroad transportation department in Texas awaited orders to return to posts vacated in the walk-out last Sept. 19.

The strikers were aroused from bed by telephone calls from their representatives to be informed of a conference between Gov. Leche, railroad executives and representatives of the strikers had finally resulted in a satisfactory agreement.

T. J. Dryer, spokesman for the L. and A. T. strikers in Greenville, said today he had not been advised as to exact provisions embraced in the agreement. Neither could he say whether the strikers would return to their jobs. It was his belief they would be recalled to service immediately.

FOUR MEN ROBBED WEALTHY BOSTONIAN OF $125,000 JEWELS

SOUTHBORO, Mass., Nov. 21.—(P)—State police combed this section today for four "chummy" holdup men who robbed Mrs. William Kennedy, wife of a wealthy Boston merchant of $125,000 in gems.

Wearing masks and armed, the four entered the palatial Kennedy home last evening. Ignoring the attractive Mrs. Kennedy's command "come on and get out of here and go home," the men courteously ordered her and her maid to the library and said they wanted her jewels.

"I tried to talk them out of it," Mrs. Kennedy said. "I offered them cigarettes and did all I could think of but they meant business."

Directed to a floor safe containing jewelry, the men dialed the combination at Mrs. Kennedy's direction. They disregarded a valuable necklace she was wearing.

After each man had shaken Mrs. Kennedy's hand and complimented her on her coolness, they bound her and Miss Emma Green, the maid, to chairs and left in a car.

"We got quite chummy," Mrs. Kennedy said afterward. "I told the men I'd marry any boys have to do thing like this."

They replied, she said, "so are we, but what can we do about it?"

Christmas Toys Being Repaired By Local Firemen

Members of the Corsicana fire department renewed their appeal Saturday for donations of discarded, broken or damaged toys and playthings to be repaired and given to the children of unfortunate families in the city during the holiday season.

The department personnel is participating in the campaign for the fourth consecutive year. Each season they start work early in the fall on the repairing and habituating of the discarded and broken toys from the homes of Corsicana, putting them in first-class condition for distribution near the Christmas season through some of the established welfare agencies.

So far this year, they report that the response from the rank and file of the citizenry has been rather slow. Members of the group pointed out that the repairs were made during spare time and that it was necessary to get the toys in ample time before the holiday season if they were to be rewarded.

Any citizen having toys which their children no longer desire, or broken toys, books, games or anything of that nature is asked to either bring the toys to the office of the fire department in the city hall or call chief Elmer Keith and he will have the donations called for at the home.

CORSICANA GIRL CONTEST WINNER CENTENNIAL AWARD

Dorothy Love, senior high school student, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Love, today received a check for $100 and an official plaque of the Texas Centennial Central Exposition in Dallas, as a result of having won the grand prize in a historical document contest sponsored last summer by exposition officials.

Interviewed by a Daily Sun reporter briefly between classes Friday, Dorothy, bright-eyed and happy, did not know what she would do with the $100, confided she had already spent $25 of it, refused to take any interest in a hypothetical "business investment" jokingly suggested by the reporter and Principal O. P. Douglas.

In 1846 Dorothy's great-great-uncle owned a ship, which was the first ever to navigate the Trinity river from the Gulf of Mexico to any great distance into the state's interior. At the expedition was being planned, numerous persons and stores gave money and provisions to finance the trip and to stock the ship. These contributions were listed and the document was dated.

This document, property of Dorothy's grandmother, Mrs. F. P. Ficklin, was submitted by Dorothy to the Centennial and was awarded the grand prize.

Together with the check and plaque, Dorothy received an "award of merit" signed by Harry Olmstead, director general of the Centennial, and designating her as winner of the grand prize.

AN IDEA FROM ABROAD.

IDEAS FROM VIENNA
Read about the latest Viennese gaily which Miss Forbes suggests as a way of adding brightness, and therefore beauty, to your appearance.

The girl who is trying to give her appearance distinction—always an aid to beauty—will be interested in this latest idea from abroad. It comes from Vienna and is so new it has only just reached London. A n d Paris, therefore, I am sure it is bound to be new to most of my readers.

Since things to match are a recent fad, the Viennese have followed out the idea to its logical conclusion and produced matching sets of glove, handbag, belt, buttonhole flowers, and the crowning original touch, umbrella with cover and case to match. Optional additions are powder case, cigarette case, leather covered lighter or match case. Here, for instance, is what one woman I know bought:—

Having a plain tailored blue serge suit from last year, and desiring to bring it up to date, she purchased to go with it a handbag of crocodile in rich purple, belt and flower buttonhole of the same leather, gray kid gloves with gauntlet cuffs of the purple, umbrella of deep violet color silk with crocodile handle and case. Although the set was one of the most expensive to be had, still it cost less than a new suit, and she is now the smartest woman in her set. These come also in red, morocco, suede of every imaginable shade, calf in black or the new sunset brown, and various other combinations. What good will this do me, you may ask yourself, if you live in a small town or if your city shops have not got these sets as yet. The points is, having the idea you can now make similar sets for yourself. Choose your color and buy a handbag which will bring a make that for yourself. Match the handbag leather in a leather shop or any shop which carries leather skins. From the matching skin cut out slightly flaring cuffs and sew them on to new plain kid gloves. Cut out a flower and make a plain tube case for some old umbrella.

JUNIOR COLLEGE

ed Mr. Nelson's presentation with many questions being asked by members of the committee concerning various phases of the establishment and operation of the colleges, with several answers presented from the history of junior plants in various parts of the state.

L. W. Hartsfield, president of the Hillsboro Junior College, was next presented and recalled that the Hillsboro school was established in 1923 and had been aided by an odd-shaped school district which extended more than a mile beyond the corporate limits of the city. He declared that while the finances of the school had been underwritten at the beginning the unit had been self-supporting from the start and had never been necessary to call on the guarantors to make up a deficit. In answer to questions he stated that the salary schedule for the college was $1800 per year and for the high school $1350 and that the members of the faculty were paid according to the number of classes they taught in each unit.

Shows Steady Growth.
He stated that the school started in 1923 with 87 students and that in 1935, including the summer session the enrollment had been 352; this year's enrollment was reported as about 210. The tuition was reported as $100 per year plus the usual library, laboratory and student activity charges. The high school rate was 50 cents per $100 assessed valuation, with a total tax value of $7,800,000.

The head of the Hillsboro college stated that the number of students had greatly increased the number from his county who had attended higher institutions by giving the students their first opportunity to attend a college. He called attention to the fact that the average junior college curriculum had been criticized because it offered too few "terminal" courses or vocational courses for those students who did not intend to attend other colleges or universities, and that there was a distinct need for courses of work that would meet immediate needs. He reported also that his college included both the last two years of high school work and the first two years of college work and that there was little friction between the two groups.

Problem Is Financial.
L. C. Proctor, president of the Temple Junior College, was the third speaker of the afternoon, and stated that he thought that Corsicana's problem was principally financial and that if the finances could be found the city could easily qualify for the establishment of a junior college. He pointed out that if all of the present high school building was in use for the students of the regular school grades, that more rooms, a new building or night operations were the only way to handle the problem, and he advised against the night classes because of the extensive overhead for lights, heat and other items.

Mr. Proctor related that the Temple college was established in 1926 under the plans of Dr. Spilawn of Texas University, with $20,000 underwritten by Temple citizens for the college plus $5,000 for a library. He stated that the school operated for two years at night with deficits each year but at the end of that period had changed to day work, and since had operated at a profit of $1,000 per year, paying all operating costs plus a portion of the salaries of the president and the dean. He said the school started with 83 students and now has 134.

Operates at Profit.
He declared that the college

NEW TAXES

twelfth of a cent per pound when carbon black is selling for cents a pound or less and three per cent of value when its market value is more than four cents.

Although the present sulphur tax of $1.03 per ton is four times as large as that six years ago, some in the legislature believe it should go higher.

Byrne said little revenue would be obtained from the new tax of ten cents a ton on marble and granite and five cents on other ores. The first thousand tons a year of any producer are exempt.

Curd of Thanks.
The family of Robert David Castellan wish to thank the friends of Barry and Corsicana for the kindness and sympathy shown during the time of bereavement.

Mrs. R. D. Castellan, wife, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Castellan, father; T. W. Castellan, Geruas Castellan, Alton Castellan, Floyd Castellan, Exa Willine Castellan.

should be operated in conjunction with the high school and at a tuition of $125 per year if no public tax was levied for its support. He stated that the operation in connection with the high school permitted the facilities to keep in close contacts with the students and to make use of the knowledge of the college students that they secured while they were in high school. He stated that the principal source of the students of the Temple Junior College was the high school, and also stated that he could operate a junior college at a profit with 100 full-time students.

The president of the Temple college estimated that the parents of each student in a junior college operating in the home community saved at least $400 per year when the tuition was compared to the cost of attending major institutions, and because of the money brought into a community and kept in town by the college, the amount of taxes saved would be considerable. This fact was also repeated by the president of the Hillsboro college.

Community Profit.
Superintendent W. H. Norwood of the Corsicana public schools told the committee after the visiting speakers had been heard, that it was his desire to serve the community in every possible manner, and believed that the board of education held the same idea. Concerning the junior college idea, he stated that he was not willing to go further with the proposal unless the community as a whole wanted such an institution and was prepared to support it.

After some additional questions were asked of the speakers, the meeting was adjourned subject to the call of the chairman. It was stated by Mr. Jester that the facts brought out in the Saturday meeting would be carefully studied and briefed and at a later time presented to a general assembly of the entire community for consideration, with the facts that the principle might be brought to light in the meantime.

Among those attending the session in addition to the visiting speakers, were Chairman Jester, Superintendent Norwood, J. N. Garlity, A. A. Allison, Mrs. W. H. Hastings, James Cerf, J. N. Edens, E. W. Ellis, J. S. Murchison, A. F. Mitchell, and others.
